

Meet the Divine News Team

Heaven's Reporters and the Angel Who Trains Them

Every reporter on the Divine News Team came to Heaven by a different path, and each one carries a different gift. Together they see more than any of them could alone.

Penny the Squirrel

REPORTER ♦ THE HEART

Her gift is empathy.

Penny lived in a sunny city park, gathering small stories the way other squirrels gathered acorns. Heaven let her keep watching, keep listening, and keep loving the people whose stories she once collected. She doesn't only see what happens — she feels what people feel.

LOOK FOR her striped tail (it twitches when she's curious, which is most of the time) and the small notebook in her satchel.

Professor Hoot

REPORTER ♦ THE CONTEXT

His gift is knowledge with context.

A great horned owl who spent a long, quiet life watching travelers pass through his forest and learning their customs. Heaven welcomed him with a library so vast it made his old woods look like a single tree. Hoot knows the language, the politics, and why a moment mattered.

LOOK FOR spectacles he doesn't need, a bow tie that will not sit straight, and seventeen sources cited before breakfast.

Dominic the Donkey

REPORTER ♦ THE QUESTIONS

His gift is honest questioning.

A working donkey who never accepted that his job was to carry loads and stay quiet. He asked his owner, the chickens, the cats, the wind. His owner called it stubborn. Heaven had another word for it: holy. He asks what others won't — Why? How do we know? What if we're wrong?

LOOK FOR ears that swivel forward when he's interested, and the head tilt before the question that breaks everything open.

Gabriel

ARCHANGEL ♦ THE MENTOR

His gift is wisdom.

One of God's chief messengers — the angel who explained visions to Daniel, announced the birth of John the Baptist, and carried to Mary the news that she would be the mother of Jesus. He is older than the news he carries, and the news he carries is older still.

LOOK FOR vast white wings, a voice both firm and gentle, and the quiet smile he wears when his reporters are about to learn something.

THEIR SACRED OATH

We will observe what is, not what we wish.

We will report truth, not our pride.

We will see with love, not with judgment.

We will work as one, not as three.

We will respect every story we are given.

And we will protect the freedom to choose.
